Description

A good example of a very smart regency mahogany library table dating from the early 19th Century. It stands on solid end supports, joined by a delicate turned stretcher with pointed roundels at either end and turned bun feet below the legs. It is a good quality piece and is beautifully finished on all four sides of the table, making it suitable as a centre table or side table. It is in good condition for its age and has a lovely rich colour. There are signs of age and use and various old marks, stains and some light scratches on the top surface but nothing untoward or detrimental and no major damages. It is a good sturdy table and has been gently cleaned and polished and is ready for use. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions just ask. Nationwide delivery available through our network of reliable couriers.
