Description

An elegant 18th century Dutch two-part vitrine cabinet. Displaying dry scraped paint, depicting yellow and cream tones throughout. Demonstrating an elegantly shaped bonnet cornice sitting above a pair of glazed doors - retaining original hand-blown glass. The doors open to reveal internal shaped shelves, offering great display opportunities. The lower sections displays a pair of panelled doors raised on shaped bracket feet. The interior features its original soft muted burgundy paint, that has been later refreshed in places. With its elegant lines and soft finish, this vitrine will bring a graceful presence to any interior. Height - 221cm Width - 128cm Depth - 41cm
