Description

A superb early aesthetic movement burr walnut veneered washstand circa 1870. Fully repolished in our own workshops and as close to the day it was made as is possible. Everything you see is original - the tile back (most likely Minton) - the brass handles of atypical geometric design - the foot tiles to the knee hole - unusual catches to the two cupboard doors - the marble top and lastly it is nice to see the brass towel rail evident. This piece is a real showstopper and could have numerous purposes in the home or business. Where ever it goes it will look fantastic.
