Description

Superb early 19th century Georgian Coach built Childs push chair in original paint. This is a high quality piece with sprung metal frame thus giving suspension. Nicely turned ash or hickory wooden handle. Beautiful fully buttoned black leather upholstery. The three wooden wheels are superb, the workmanship is incredible, they are all iron bound. The woodwork all has its original finish which as can be seen has not been restored or touched up. The pram has originally had some sort of ties as there are two of the original four metal pieces for straps. As to be expected there is some wear to the wheels but overall this pram is in excellent condition for such an old example. Probably should be in a museum. SIZE; 45" long overall by 24" wide by 39" high at the handle end. CIRCA; 1800 - 1820
