Description

This is such a pretty Victorian ring, it would make a stunning antique engagement ring (who could say no?!) or a fabulous acquisition for yourself. Set in a daisy-cluster formation, the six old hand-cut diamonds are beautifully bright and sparkly, twinkling away even in the dimmest light. Each is approximately 2mm diameter, it's hard to be precise about a carat weight as each is a unique cut. Fully hallmarked for 18-carat gold, Birmingham 1889-90 and bearing the sponsor's mark L&L. In excellent antique condition. Size P (UK), 7.5 (US). The face of the ring measures 6mm and it sits approx 4mm above the finger. The comfortable D-shaped shank is 3mm wide at the back, rising to 4mm at the front with lovely scroll-carved shoulders framing the diamond cluster. Weight: 3.0g. FREE INTERNATIONAL SHIPPING! Antique boxes pictured are for display only unless otherwise stated.
