Description

This is a matched pair of Victorian glassed terracotta strawberry pots in very good condition, they are in the shape of tree stumps. I collected them from a large house with a walled garden where they have probably been all their life which will account for them being in such very rare good condition. (usually damaged) They are approx 2 feet tall and 18 inches at their widest point. If you are interested in buying these I will need your postcode for delivery cost.
