Description

This is a splendid antique pair of silver-plate and opaline glass Corinthian column table lamps now converted to electricity, circa 1920 in date. It features a classic Corinthian Capital decorated with acanthus leaves and anthemion with an opaline glass cylindrical fluted shaft on a stepped square base with further acanthus leaf decoration. Add an element of pure luxury to your home with this antique silver plated table lamp. Condition: In excellent working condition having been beautifully cleaned and rewired, please see photos for confirmation. Dimensions in cm: Height 50 x Width 14 x Depth 14 Dimensions in inches: Height 1 foot, 8 inches x Width 5 inches x Depth 5 inches Corinthian capital It has been suggested that the foliage of the Greek Corinthian capital was based on the Acanthus spinosus, that of the Roman on the Acanthus mollis. The leaves are generally carved in two "ranks" or bands, like one leafy cup set within another. One of the most beautiful Corinthian capitals is that from the Tholos of Epidaurus (400 BC); it illustrates the transition between the earlier Greek capital, as at Bassae, and the Roman version that Renaissance and modern archi...
