Description

Here I have a heavily carved grandfather clock with a musical movement working on 3 weights, has a very ornate brass face with chime/silent dial, it chimes on gongs, the works would benefit from a clean although we have had the clock working runs for a short time,(I've allowed for the cleaning in the price) . As you will see in the pictures the case is very well carved and in great condition. This is from a local house in the Scottish Borders where I am told it's been for the last 80 years. The retail price for a clock of this quality and being musical is around the £4 to £5 thousand pounds sterling . I would call it an exhibition quality clock of some importance. I can arrange delivery at buyers' cost to anywhere in the world. The no-haggling price of the clock is £2200 which I know is a good price for an outstanding quality clock like this. I date the clock to around 1880/90, late Victorian It stands an impressive 7 feet 10 inches tall. Any questions please email me thank you.
