Description

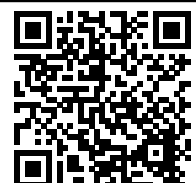

A stunning pair of shield back mahogany carver chairs with green leather seats. These are in the Sheraton style, they were made in England and date from around the 1900-1910 period. They are of amazing quality, with a beautiful and elegant design. They are solid mahogany throughout, with fine satin wood inlay around the back edges and arm fronts. The pierced backs and scrolled arms are beautifully carved, the legs terminate in spade feet. We have just had these re-polished, the frames are in excellent condition for their age, and so are the green leather seats.
