Description

An elegant and very well made Georgian period Pembroke table in mahogany. This was made in England, it dates from around 1790-1810 period. The quality is superb, this is constructed from solid mahogany which has acquired a gorgeous patina over the years. There are original brass handles and casters, the drop down sides are each supported by two pull out supports. This is nicely finished on all sides, with a dummy drawer on the back. We have had this recently revived and re-polished, it retains various small surface marks here and there with plenty of character, there is no structural damage.
