One of these was Morris Epstein and later his six sons. In 1929 Harry, the designer and Lou, the cabinet maker formed H&L Epstein furniture designers and manufacturers to go onto create some of the best British Art Deco furniture, both in design and quality. 15 highly skilled craftsmen were employed mainly from Eastern Europe, making furniture often by hand and using the finest materials. Much Epstein furniture was commissioned to order, to allow customers to have chairs and other pieces of furniture made.
