Description

A charming early 19th century sampler by SARAH CASEMORE WAY who was born in Ickford, Buckingham in 1808 to Richard Way and Nancy CASEMORE. She married Robert Gray and had three children and died in April 1885 in Ticehurst, Sussex. This delightful sampler is worked in coloured silks and depicts a busy scene, possibly harvesting with the female figures sporting wonderful headgear and a lama like horse pulling the cart. It is framed and glazed and has a couple of small holes to the backing but no damage to the stitches and no bleeding of colours.
