Description

An 18thC oak and elm French farmhouse table. Seats a very generous six persons with good leg room (58cm). Fabulous rich patina to the four plank top. Oak base with substantial raised stretchers and a large heavy central drawer. The drawer has its original large iron ring pull. The top has old repairs and evidence of woodworm which would be quite usual for a table of this age (all treated as a precaution). The colour of this substantial solid table is wonderful. Old peg joints all tight. The end overhang of the top allows chairs to sit under it in the right manner. 179 cm long 83 wide and 74.5 high with 58 cm leg room This table would also make an outstanding hall table in a substantial property
