Description

Pair of bronze bells from an early steam driven fire engine, c1900. They are well cast and a good weight (4.1 kg combined weight). They are crudely marked 'Fire' which appears to have been added at some point in their life. Both have good colour/patina and have aged well with no obvious condition issues. Please refer to the detailed photographs and feel free to contact me if you wish to view the item or have any questions. Price includes FREE UK delivery. I will happily ship worldwide, please contact me for a bespoke quote for your Country. Size: 16cm tall x 16cm wide x 16cm deep, combined weight 4.1kg.
