Description

A good example of a small english oak bible box dating from the 18th Century. It has a nicely carved front with naive geometric patterns. It has a flat top and small moulded plinth around the base. It has a metal latch and lock plate and the lid opens on small ring hinges. It is in good condition and has developed a lovely rich patina. There are some signs of age and use, some old marks, splits and there are signs of historic worm which has all been treated as a precaution. There are some historic repairs, the lock is not original and it is likely that the hinges have been replaced some time ago but overall it displays well. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions just ask. Nationwide delivery available through our network of reliable couriers.
