Description

A Regency secretaire bookcase circa 1810/20 in mahogany with stringing inlays and astrical glazed doors, adjustable shelves, and a very good satinwood fitted interior consisting of drawers and pigeon holes. Standing of splayed bracket legs. Very good condition and a wonderful colour. The base has pull-out shelves similar to a linen cabinet. Mahogany flamed doors to the base and the secretaire front. This bookcase is out of a very nice Scottish manse house and has been well looked after.
