Description

This is an antique decorative granite formation. An English, polished geological display specimen, dating to the Edwardian period, circa 1910 and much, much earlier. Superb natural formation presented for ornamental display. In very good order throughout with desirable aged patina. Cosmic Black granite offers wonderful tonality and patterns. Accentuated with a palette of deep blacks, greys and reddish browns. Mounted upon an ebonised plinth, dressed with protective base. This is a distinctive antique decorative granite formation, ideal for collectors of natural history or geological interest. Delivered polished and ready for display.
