Description

A wonderful and well proportioned early 18th century Oak Bureau Bookcase of superb colour and patina. In Fabulous original condition with original handles, escutcheons, pin hinges to the double doors and most of the original locks too. The interiors fitted with bookshelves small drawers and pigeon holes. The drawer linings made in Oak, remain in remarkable clean original condition throughout. Interestingly one of the sides of the top section is neatly fretted with S shapes, it is hard to say whether this is original to the piece.
