Description

Technical Description A magnificent pair of silver plated candelabra dating to around 1920. Three light examples with scrolling push fit arms and scones. Made in England by Barker Ellis in the early 20th century which operated from 1801 until 1992. As a pair, they are incredibly versatile. They can work as the centerpiece of a large antique or contemporary wall unit or table(s) or as a single candelabra for more intimate gatherings. The arms are fully detachable and they can then act as a beautiful pair of candlesticks. Really nice clean condition and a good size.

Date & Origin Birmingham, England, 1920 Condition Excellent condition with minor wear as shown.
