Description

Antique Caucasian rugs are often admired for their exceptional colouring. This piece fits the bill well. It is a lovely piece with happy colours, a well drawn field with repeating Memling guls, and a delightful saffron yellow border decorated with abstracted bird-like ornaments. The overall appearance is harmonious and elegant. The wool is fine and all the dyes are natural and beautiful. There is some wear and the brown has corroded in places which gives the rug an elusive lived-in look. Professionally cleaned and restored. Woven in the Moghan region of the Eastern Caucasus, this is a wonderful collectible and decorative piece.
