Description

A delightful example of a late Victorian mahogany clover leaf or trefoil drop leaf table c1880. The table is supported by three carved bamboo effect legs on outswept feet, united by a central ornately carved rosette topped by a carved acorn. The three flaps open out to form a clover leaf or trefoil design. The flaps are supported by pull out arms attached to the underframe. There is a tiny dink in the surface but otherwise the table is in super condition, with a good warm medium mahogany colour. The max diameter with the flaps raised is 50cm. The max width of the central triangular top is 39cm.
