Description

We are delighted to offer this intricately crafted Victorian solid silver sugar sifter spoon made by silversmith Taylor & Perry in Birmingham, 1853. The spoon features an ornate grapevine design with intricately and realistically modelled leaves, grapes and vines intertwining to form a handle. The bowl of the spoon continues a highly decorative design of leaves and a parcel-gilt surface (partially gilt only on the background, whereas the embellished leaves are left silver). A full set of English hallmarks are present on the reverse side of the handle. SIZE Length (Handle to Tip of Bowl): 145mm/5.70in Width: 55mm/2.16in Weight: 18g (0.63oz) CONDITION Excellent Condition - The spoon is in great antique condition with no issues.
