Description

This is a very special Aesthetic movement desk I came across recently. The quality is superb, made entirely from ash and with a huge amount of inlaid details which make this piece truly unique. The boarder detail is done so well that it looks like like 3 dimensional dental moulding but it isnt, it is just inlay. The handles are all original and the piece just stands out at all angles. The top has ver few marks and there is a small loss to the inlay on the bottom left drawer. Hardly noticeable. But other than that the piece is in superb original condition. All drawers run smoothly and although the desk isnt the biggest size it offers plenty of useful storage.
