Description

A fine post Edwardian George V era silver mounted hobnail cut glass scent bottle with good clear hallmarks for London 1911. The silver mounted lid, hinge and collar are integral, and the hallmarks appear on the collar. There is a smaller hallmark inside the lid. The lid and collar are decorated with fine engine turned bands and line engraving. The centre of the top bears a stag's head crest on a plain circular shield, surrounded by line engraving and bands of engine turned decoration. The hinge is strong, the stopper is original and the interior is gilt sprayed, a sign of quality. The base is star cut. The body is hobnail cut with a slice cut shoulder. All in all, a graceful good quality scent bottle. Very good condition.
