Description

A heavy duty 16th century repoussé water bucket, decorated with heraldic shields, mythical beasts, ornate foliate designs, satyr masks and what appears to be a portrait of an emperor. The bucket has a lovely dark bronze colour and is made of thick gauge brass or bronze. The base has been restored probably in the late 1800's - early 1900's, the bucket still retains its original riveted carrying handle. Overall this is in excellent condition for its age and is a lovely collectors piece.
