Description

Early C19th William IV period mahogany serving buffet of unusual design . Compact scale bow-ended buffet or serving side-board fitted with a single full length frieze drawer fitted with original brass-inlaid ebonised knobs, above 2 flame-mahogany panelled cupboard doors. The doors enclosing a fitted interior comprising a bank of 3 shallow drawers and a deep cellarette or wine storage drawer , all fitted with high-quality recessed brass handles . The 'stile' end uprights fitted with raised moulded lancet-shaped panels , the top with a classically-inspired carved anthemion and leaf-scroll upstand to the rear ,with a rectangular tablet to the centre. The whole raised on original turned mahogany squat feet . Unusually the rounded bow-ends are each of different radius and curve , the asymmetric design probably being a bespoke feature when commissioned. High quality construction and build quality throughout, well-chosen grade of figured mahogany which has achieved a wonderful rich colour and patina. In excellent original condition with only minor historic marks and stains to the top . A decorative and boldly designed side cabinet providing useful storage and a serving f...
