Description

A fabulous regal 19th-century bangle with deep blue enamel and super sparkly pastes, with a circular pendant drop to the front. The closure is unusual, each side of the bangle is sprung and one end, slightly thinner, fits inside the other to close nicely once in place. Condition: There is some enamel damage to the drop and to the underside of one edge of the cross, though neither is very obvious when the bracelet is worn. The gold has completely worn from one section of the bangle at the back (see photos). Size: The internal circumference is six and a half inches; the bangle is 4.5cm from the top of the front to the bottom of the drop and measures 4mm wide at the back. FREE INTERNATIONAL SHIPPING!
