Description

A superb medieval period warrior engraved bronze signet ring. This amazing ring dates from 900 – 1100 AD and has an engraving depicting a warrior holding a spear and a curved sword. The curved sword would likely lead towards the ring originating from Eastern Europe or further east. A wonderful piece of wearable history! A part of our ancient jewellery collection. This medieval period warrior engraved bronze signet ring is in a good, wearable condition. The ring is of a nice solid construction with no signs of damage and a decent, fairly thick shank.
