Price

SoldItem Reference: SA860096*Date of manufacture: 17th Century

Description

A 17th century walnut carved term figure of a bearded gentleman over a cherub's head, with foliate swags. On the reverse, it has a label of one of the antiques dealers who presumably sold this many years ago. It reads: 'James Butti - dealer of articles of virtue, Queen Street, Edinburgh. The other carved term figure is in oak with a gentleman and a lion mask. The walnut carving measures 46cm high x 6cm wide. The oak term figure measures 73cm high x 10cm wide. Both in good condition.
