Description

A rather handsome set of six Queen Anne style dining chairs, with a carver, from the early 1900s with the elegant back and the cabriole legs. A bit rare in Oak this set are a little superior to many sets with the little ears on the nicely shaped top rails. The carver has a well detailed arm as can be seen in the pictures. In most useable condition they would benefit from reupholstering the seats, which if required we could get our upholsterer to undertake for you. You may wish to do this yourself over time and as stated they are usable as they are. Width and depth sizes below are on the seat. Maximum width on the stand chairs is 52cms. Give us a call to discuss.
