Description

This is an extremely good quality English Regency mahogany drum case bracket clock. The convex white enamelled dial is painted with Roman numerals and a pair of good quality period hands finish off the effect. The single train eight day fusee timepiece movement has been cleaned and restored. The lower part of the case has a feature brass viewing window and is inlaid with brass decorations and the case under the dial is fluted with tapered columns flanking the viewing window all atop a plinth base. The drum topped case has gadrooned cresting and brass finial to finish and the brass bezel is secured by a working lock and key. As with all my clocks this lovely piece comes with my three year guarantee as standard. This is a rare piece and represents great value as well as looking markedly different to the more common styles of bracket clock. Clockwise specialises in longcase and bracket clocks and with global clients from the world of business, film, sport, royalty and aristocracy - yet more than happy with traditional clients - Clockwise has an unrivalled reputation for excellence and superb service.
