Description

An Amberg Patent filing cabinet of unusually small proportions with working lock and key, c.1900. The cabinet is in an untouched condition and retains its original key and 'Letters' label to the lower drawer. The cabinet is very substantial but does have wear consistent with years of use, most notably a small split to the front cabinet door, a warp to the lower cabinet door when closed, marking to the inside of the drawers and cabinet top (please see photographs). A characterful cabinet of perfect proportions for use as a lockable desk top filing system.
