Description

Dating to the late Victorian or early Edwardian period this two door satinwood side cabinet is beautifully painted with chains of swags, sways, petals and foliage combined with central cartouches containing urns, flowers and petals in subdued tones of green, ox blood red, gold and black. The side panels are convex and the front is serpentine and the doors open to a dark wood interior with a serpentine shelf. There is a central brass rail edging one of the doors and there is a key with working lock. It has been cleaned, gently refreshed and is in superb condition. Size: Max Height - 38" (96cm) Width - 35.5" (90cm) Depth - 11" (35.5cm)
