Description

A late 19thC oak framed bronze plaque of a spaniel or hound or other retriever dog dating to c1880. Almost certainly created in France, the plaque depicts the dog, on point, standing among dense bulrushes beside a lake, with woodland landscape beyond. As is typical of French bronze casting, the plaque is finely detailed and deep, placing the dog and bulrushes in high relief. The dog has a long wavy coat and tail, and these are lightly gilded for a dynamic effect. The plaque is framed in a light oak antique frame. Excellent condition.
