Description

This good looking bedside cabinet dates from the early 1900s, likely 1920s. It is in very tidy condition with a serpentine shaped top on all sides. The little door is supported by attractive original brass hinges and the sides like the door have quartered graining on their faces. In walnut and mahogany this bedside sits on a set of cabriole shaped legs. It can of course be used elsewhere in your home as suggested in the pictures when it can carry a light or flowers etc etc. As keenly priced as you are likely to find in this tidy condition at £245.
