Description

A delightful George V era silver hexagonal box with clear hallmarks on the lid and base for London 1912 and makers mark for ASPREY & CO. An exquisite piece, in plain smooth silver. It has a vacant oblong shield on the top and a ridge on the front side of the lid, so that the box opens easily but is not loose. The box opens and shuts with a good click. Underneath it is engraved Regn Applied For meaning that ASPREY applied for a patent for this design. This was made at the end of the Edwardian and start of the George V eras, when quality and refinement were the name of the day. And it's by ASPREY, so it's gorgeous.
