Description

This is a very high quality Victorian country house armchair that I have opted to upholster in blue and cream ticking fabric. For me it set off the piece perfectly by complimenting the mahogany legs and I believe it would sit well in any home. The chair is of course fully restored and perfectly useable for everyday use. The legs and brass casters are all original which gives the chair a real elegance. The proportions though for me are what makes this so special as they really just hold you nicely making it an extremely comfy chair. Perfect for enjoying a good book in or a glass of something tasty.
