Description

This fabulous necklace is the epitome of chic antique glamour which remains absolutely wearable today despite being centuries old. The old-cut paste stones, mounted in sterling silver, have typically Georgian enclosed backs and are set rivièrè-style (hanging from the top edges) and foiled at the back, giving them lovely light-reflecting properties. They appear slightly more pink in the photographs than the pinkish purple colour they have in natural daylight. In very good antique condition, with no chips or obvious wear to the stones. The clasp opens smoothly and clicks shut nicely. Length: approx 14 inches - this is a fairly short length which will not fit everyone, please check your size carefully! Size: The pastes measure approx 7.5mm across, the paste-set clasp is the same size but sits in a higher bezel to accommodate the clasp mechanism. Weight: 21.8g. FREE INTERNATIONAL SHIPPING!
