Description

We are delighted to offer this magnificent pair of Victorian Rococo design silver candlesticks imported into London in 1890 by "JG" possibly, James Green. The pair features the most wonderful Rococo style design with rich ornamentations of scrolls, acanthus leaves and shells overflowing from all angles. The base presents a tri-pointed design with a raised centre, embellished with garlands, shells and gridded patterns. The mid-section features a waisted and elegant shape with a mixture of stippled accenting lines, plain portions and further naturalistic leaves. The 'capitals' (top) of the candlesticks are equally magnificent with a bud-shaped design and three cartouches with wrythen decorations within. The sconces are fully detachable for cleaning and continue a rich Rococo design with further overflowing acanthus leaves. The bases of the pair are weighted for stability and stand steady - perfect for interior settings and ideal for elegant dinners - a conversation starter and bound to delight and impress your guests. A practical and elegant size, ideal for decoration on a fine table as pair or singularly on a smaller table to enjoy the finer things in life i...
