Description

Beautiful Victorian hand blown glass display dome with black painted wooden base, the interior lined with claret coloured velvet. This superb display dome is circular in shape and stands in total 32cm tall, 30cm wide and the base stands 4cm. The dome comes in a great used condition with the slight scuffs and surface wear that you would expect from an object of this age. The glass is bright, shiny and free from cracks, but has a few miniscule nibbles on the base of the glass which are completely unseen when it is in position on its wooden plinth. On the underside, the base has three feet lined with velvet. Please see the photographs, and don't hesitate to get in touch if I can provide any further information.
