Description

Original Georgian Regency Mahogany Small Pembroke Sofa Table. A stunning Georgian Mahogany drop leaf table. This is a marvellous example of an elegant Regency Pembroke sofa table believed to be made around C1820 - 1830. This original table is made from fine quality solid Mahogany with sabre legs and reeded edges. The fantastic table has a lovely deep original colour with old surface markings which give a great life story to this fine table. This table has the ability to extend via 2 drop leafs along the length which are supported by 4 shaped support brackets. Under the tabletop is one full length oak sided dovetailed drawer to the one side with cock-beading to the edge and 2 polished solid brass dropper handles. To the rear of the table is a dummy drawer which exactly mimics the real drawer. This table stands on 2 shaped and fluted support columns with shaped corner support brackets to the under side which descend to 4 curved and reeded sabre legs which stands on its original amazing solid polished brass castors of the finest quality. There are many possibilities for the layout of this table with configurations such as behind a sofa or along the wall in a hallwa...
