Description

A comfortable Victorian library armchair of good proportions, the open arms with ring turned supports, square back and sprung seat, raised on ring turned front supports and original brass and porcelain castors. In good order, the seat is comfortable and no issues with the springs. The back legs have some evidence of old worm but no longer present and it has been treated. The fabric is undamaged and not stained but would benefit from a steam clean. I can arrange re-covering with my upholsterer and supply fabric - please contact me for further details. The back 101cm high, the seat 64cm at the front, 51cm deep and 42cm high.
