Description

This is a very high quality early 20th century French dining table. Hard to confirm the timber but I believe it to be cherry. It has wonderfully shaped edges which when matched with tall carved cabriole legs it gives the table a very elegant look. There are also two deep oak lined drawers concealed at each end. The table is overall in very good condition with the only minor fault being an indented line at one end. Hardly noticeable and takes nothing away from the piece. The beautiful curved corners are a great detail and this is certainly a very impressive piece to entertain guests around.
