Description

Antique Regency Gilt Bronze Single Fusee Mantel Clock With Bronze Putti Ormolu. This beautiful antique mantel clock has a gilt bronze case with an arched housing for the movement and dial. This housing then has an ormolu mount of a harp to the right hand side as well as another depicting a putti with scrolling surrounds to the front. The base of the case is then rectangular with a shaped moulding around the base. This rectangular section then has a stunning ormolu mount depicting griffins and a head within a wreath to the front as well wreaths surrounded by scrollwork to the sides. The left of the case then has a superb bronze model of a putti cast in exceptional detail and appearing to lean against the case whilst playing a gilt flute. Then whole piece then sits on four thin, round feet. The dial is then set out in black Arabic numerals and has an intricately patterned gilt surround which frames the dial perfectly. The dial is then finished by two unusually shaped and gilt hands. The movement is then wound from the front and accessed from the back. It ticks away as it should and comes complete with its pendulum and winding key. It is a single fusee, silk suspensio...
