Description

The Qashqa'i weaver in this case, might have made this namakdan as part of her dowry or for her husband, and thus made sure it was a very beautiful salt-bag. She has incorporated four ivory horizontal rows of stylised birds in-between intricate rows of floral rosettes - extremely charming and woven during the first half of the 20th century. Size: 70cm x 50cm (2' 3" x 1' 8").
