Description

Early C19th George IV period mahogany extending dining table. Pull-out action telescopic mahogany dining table with 2 original leaves. Unusual carved leaf details to the top and base of the legs onto a substantial rare pattern brass cup castor and wheel. The top of the legs with circular raised disc paterae decoration. The whole top and additional leaves with a 'thumb' moulded edge. Two original spare extension fitted with brass clip fixings. The top having the original finish with variances in colour to leaves from sunlight exposure and use. The surface with various historic marks and stains commensurate with age, use and purpose, but crucially retains original surface and skin. The table has achieved a pleasing mellow patina and colour. Forms a completely flat and stable surface when extended. The telescopic action constructed in mahogany. A smart dining table of practical scale and proportions.
