Description

Historic meets contemporary - when early documents, such as this beautifully written contract between Thomas Raynor & Robert Wynn in 1669, are displayed within a sympathetic, good quality and well chosen modern frame, the two compliment each other perfectly. The framer has carefully mounted the parchment between two pieces of glass, enabling the text on both sides to be read. Supplied with robust fixings, and soft pads to protect the wall, this framed articles of agreement will enhance a range of interiors, both business and residential.
