Description

A fine watercolour depicting a figure on a country lane by Tom Clough (1867-1943). Tom Clough was born in Bolton, Lancashire. He was the son of a weaver and initially worked there as a lithographic printer in a law printing office. After a short spell as an insurance agent he ran a small drapery business in the town. He took up landscape painting in the 1890s and came to notice when his painting "Gorsey Heath" was accepted by the Royal Academy in 1893. He moved in 1894 to live at Glan Conway in North Wales where he painted many of his best known works which were exhibited at the leading galleries, including 14 paintings at the Royal Academy. He also painted in Cornwall, Devon, Northern France and Italy. He died in Llandudno, North Wales in 1943. He had married Caroline Green of Bolton and had a daughter and a son. This work remains in an excellent condition, with a clear signature to the lower left. The work is housed in a period frame which has been overpainted gilt. The original backboard remains verso with a sticker for fine art gallery T. Bromley & Son, Bolton. Dimensions (framed):- Width: 60cm Height: 49cm Depth: 3.5cm DELIVERY UK Mainland: FREE We us...
