Description

Finely woven using wool, silk and metal thread, this is a superior Aubusson weaving from the second half of the 19th century. Entre-Fenêtres were wall panels normally designed to hang between windows, often as part of a suite. This piece has an elegant design centred by a hanging flowering urn, framed by architectural forms. Note the beautiful cartouche at the bottom, probably designed to run underneath the window. Today, this piece would make a wonderful decorative hanging, ideal for a period setting. Recently cleaned and lined, it is in excellent condition.
