Description

An early Georgian period dining chair, in the country vernacular Hepplewhite style, Circa C1750, George II. Elm frame with peg jointed construction, pleasingly figured throughout. The backs with semi-circular top rail, over pierced variform splat, solid panelled seat, raised on square legs with supporting stretcher all round. A charming period chair, full of character with attractive aged wear and patina. Ready for use. Dimensions: This chair measures approximately 98 cm (39") tall, 50.5 cm (20") wide, and 48 cm (19") deep. The seat height measures approximately 45.5 cm (18.5"). Condition: Please see the pictures for details of the items condition. - This chair is in a reasonable condition, commensurate with its age, and is structurally sound and sturdy. There are several marks, blemishes and signs of use. A small natural aged separation between the planks in the seats. A little extinct old worm, typical of elm furniture, though as a precaution has been treated. Partial aged natural split to the upright/stile, but still sound. Small old repair to the top of the other stile at the joint where it meets the top rail, again sound. A few other small chips and small natura...
